

Apparatus and Method for Practicing Drumming

Abstract

5 An apparatus for practicing drumming and a method of practicing drumming are described. Preferred embodiments of the apparatus comprise an elastic cord tensioned between two support arms that lessen the impact load transferred back to the drummer's hands and arms when struck by a drumstick as compared to prior art drumming practice pads.